Gala Night for the Societe Culinaire Philanthropique.

A FEAST FIT FOR THE COOKS.

Description of the Tables and Their Tempting Burden.

The twelfth annual ball of the Société Culinaire lianthropique, which took place last evening at the ademy of Music, was a brilliant success both in re-Academy of Music, was a brilliant success both in respect to the number who attended it and to the exposition of gastronomical art which is the leading attraction of every French cooks' ball. Hundreds of people who could not attend the ball crowded into Nilsson Hall to see the tables, and delight and won-Nilson Hall to see the tables, and ublight and whole at the marvellous pieces of fairy sculpture wrought out of goose liver, truffles, jelly, suct or pastry. The Academy of Music was handsomely recorated with American and French flags, and when the first notes of Schwab's band struck up at about salf-past ten it was thronged with a gay and lively erman elements naturally predominated. It was not ntil an bour later, however, that the ball assumed its true numerical proportions, and it was then estimated that the Academy must contain not far from two thousand people. The tolicis of the ladies, a majority of whom belonged to our most picturesque orelize element, wore, il not the most claborate or costly, at least the most gay and coquotish seen at any of our great balls.

After the overlure, "La Muette de Portici" and the "Grande Marche Triomphale Philanthropique," followed a series of dances, which even in their lively character bore out the dashing nature of the entertainment. First came quadrille, "La Johe Perfumeuse," followed by such suggestive dance pieces as valse, "The Kiss;" quadrille, "Petit Faust;" mazurka, "Cassagnettes;" lanciers, "Le Héro;" polks, "Tam Tam," and then came a succession of selections from the "Grande Duchesse," "La Vie Parisienne," "La Méro Angol," "Gonevière de Braban;" "Gircdf-Gircfa," "Barbe Bleue." &c. The dancing was exceedingly spirited and the floor manager, Mr. Louis Cuppinger, did not fail in ois task to keep the entrain at its full height. But even during the mazes of the dance one could see that many people's eyes turned inquiringly and longingly to the doors of Nilsson Hall, where the tables were still bidgen from public view. The nearly printed order of dancing in the hands of every guest also contained the bill of fare for the evening support, and this had excited gastronomical expectation to the very nighest pitch. The menu was as Iollows:

THE CERPS-D'OUVERS.

At half-past twelve the general anxiety was at last satisfied and the doors of Nilsson Hall were opened. Only a feeble and brief description of the culinary marries displayed on the tables could be attempted. There was a monster galantine of turkey h Palencienne contributed by M. Fere, of the Astor House, about four feet high, and so artfully contrived as to give in its arrangement the very picture of a board of checkers. As far as human insensity could make it out, the white squarce were formed of the whites of eggs, and the dark of truffles, champignous and chicken livers. From the chef of Parker's had come a gorgeous Temple of Liberty built of suct, crowned with delictous frozen salaus and waving with flags. The lotticat of the table ornaments was a pyramid of galantine of tongues, qualis, and numerous fancy birds of suct, surmounted by a Heroules of stearine carrying the globe upon his greasy back. This superb piece of culinary art was the work of M. Valadon, of the St. James. The quality in this, as in other pieces, had been beautifully restored to their lifelike appearance, after having been killed and reasted, by artistically replacing their heads and feathers. So cleverly was this done that no one could have thought those birds were ever killed at all. The chef of Beaver street belmonico's had rent a boned turkey, "Beaver street style," luxuriously imbeded in flowers of the most luscious and tempting brown jelly, and decked out in bright colors. M. Raphael, of the Evenett House, had sent a triangle temposed of three triangular hams, triangularly placed, and also decorated with flowers of jelly and sect. The salmon, a la St. Laurent, from M. Beptiste Pérous, of the Clarendon, was as big as a good-rized child of ten, and was masked in a delusive and bewildering cover of jelly, truffles and butter, a la Moatpeller, of all the brilliant hues of the risistance, by M. Fére, chef of the Astor House, was called the was as big as a good-sized child of ten, and was masked in a delusive and bewildering cover of jelly, truffles and butter, à la Montpelier, of all the brillant hues of the rainbow. Another pièce de résistance, by M. Fère, chef of the Astor House, was called the "Grand Hunt," composed of suet and jelly, surmounted by telpis gigantic game pies, and presenting huntsmen with rifles, deer, &c., ma garden, a rippling brook spanned by a little white bridge of sues (though it looked like the most delicate conjectioners), &c. A filet of beer à la Don Atlongo, by M. Ragot, of Delimonico's Brosdway establishment, garaished with louchées à la jardintère and inlaid with vegetables, which were mouided and stuck together in strikingly uniform fashion, pierced by skewers of jelly and other ornaments at each side, aitracted much attention.

MRN'S MOUTHS WATER.

M. Mehel, chef of the Windsor, contributed a fantastic and rather mysterious piece, of enormous proportions, called the "Chariot of the Epoch," driven by Gambetts, made principally of pastilige, and presenting a charlot drawn by four horses and preceded by some clowns in the garb of pig-skins and purheads, supposed to represent, according to many interpreters last night, the present rulers of la belle France, Marshal MacMahon and his former advisers, be Brogine, &c. M. Mehl also contributed a gorgeous Circus of Apolio of wax, stearine, tallow and other non-classical material, such as the Greeks probably never dreamed of. The chef of the Albemarle had idorned one of the tables with a monater voltiere of partridges in bewindering array, the birds, deliciously sooked as they were, having preserved their precise lifelike appearance by an artistic refrussing of their beans and teathers. M. Mehel, of the Hotel Brunslick, had urnished a beautitul fig tree of orange skins and suct, with the figs left out. Nipe boned turkeys forming one monster galantine de la Richeneu, pecked at by wondrous tallow birds, deliciously sooked as they were, having preserved their precise lifelike ap

THE LIEDERKRANZ BALL.

THE PROCEEDINGS STILL INVOLVED IN A PLEASANT MYSTERY.

The annual ball of the Liederkranz Society at the Academy of Music to-morrow evening bids fair to be what is promised by the management—I carmival in-deed. Never in the history of this society have the arrangements been of such an extensive character, and never have they been so complete and satisfactory as KITCHEN KINGS. upon this occasion. The committee of gentlemen having the festival in charge have adopted the usual stringent regulations, so well known by the community of ball goers, to insure the rights of visitors, and it is of bail goers, to insure the rights of visitors, and it is safe to predict that in every particular they will be religiously enforced. Prince Carnival this year seems to delight in mystery. Instead of the customary announcement of the programme decided upon, to make glad the hearts of all that bonor him with their presence, he boldly declares that there will be festivities, but refuses to enlarge upon their char-neter. Perhaus the "Prince" is vield. It will cause be isstivities, but refuses to enlarge upon their character. Perhaps the "Prince" is right. It will cause all the more guesswork, and make anticipation just as pleasant as participation. Still it is given out that the procession will occur as usual. At the side of Prince Carpival Her Royal Highress the Princess will be seen. "Luster" and "light" have promised to encircle the pair. "The Press" is to be filly represented. "Rehypothecation" will be on hand, and securities and insecurities will command attention. "Temperance" will be present, and everybody will be sked to look upon a "temperance cancan," and "all the grace and beauty" they find in it each and everyone is welcome to. "The Russian Wer" will be wound up to the satisfaction of everybody, and a "Baby Show" and a score of side shows are expected to be both novel and brilliant; besides it is assumed they will be overcoming, as it has been officially announced that "stretchers will be furnished at moderate rates,"

The admission tickets are really gorgeeus. The "Peace Galop" is found on one side, ably ilinstrated. The nations of the earth in their representatives appropriately labelled are having a good old time. The Russian bear "fings the light fantastic" face to face with Turkey. They seem to have caught the steps of the lamented Dan Bryant in his "Essence of Otto Virginny," and, what is better, they like it apparently. Servia is looking on and Poiand is backing Turkey. MacMahon is a central figure and Liberty is receiving him kindly, Hayes, standing between them and looking on approvingly. Queen Victoria, the Pope, Isabella and Alfonso, hand is hand, participate, and over all Peace is extending her arms.

TWENTY-FIVE MILE SKATING RACE.

From the hundreds of lamps that studded the roof and pillars of the Empire Rink a flood of brightness was poured last night upon a gathering that was gay with glowing that and full of merriment and gioe. There was an extra inducement offered to visitors in the twenty-five mile race, which was announced to begin at eight o'clock. Before eight o'clock the gittering sheet was slive with swift going forms. The rink had been laid out judiciously so as to afford ample room for skaters, but so inclosed as to

When the time for the beginning of the race arrived and the difficulties and faugue of a trial of such length occurred to the parties who were entered most of them thought it best to withdraw, and only the following ten engaged in the contest:—S. J. Montgomery, of the Elite Skating Circle; Charles S. Brower, of the Elite Skating Circle; William S. Denmark, of the American Boat Ciub; J. W. Smith, of the American Athletic Ciub; G. D. Philips, of the Hudson Boat Ciub; T. H. Noonen, of the American Athletic Ciub; W. Q. Gibson, of the Windsor Skating Ciub; L. Reford, of New York; H. Hamburg, of the National Boat Ciub; Charles Plaff, Jr., of the Knick-erbocker Athletic Ciub.

When the men were in position, the audience on tiptoe and agog with excitement, the judges gave the word "Go!" The word rang from the judges stand, and away shot the skaters side by side—nerves strained, faces glowing, feet beating the roc like paddle-wheels and arms going like windmills. One sweep—now they are round the circle and whitzing past the judges' stand all together still and going at even a livelier pace. Quicker still they skim along, and now, as they pass for the fourth ilme, endurance and strength begin to tell. Relord takes the lead and holds for the first five miles, but the others are close upon him and working usrd. SKATING CHALLENGE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5, 1878.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD:—
Being dissatisfied with the official returns of the ten miles skating race last night at the Sixtythird street and Third avenue skating rink, I challenge any one of the ninoteen competitors in a one-mie race for $100, on any skating rink, lake, river or pend within twenty miles of the city of New York, to come off next baturday; sooner if possible. I would accept the editor of the Clipper as stake-holder and referee.

of January, met Michael Coffey in Hoboken, who, though a stranger, was quite friendly. They were joined by John Hopkins, also a stranger to Hannigan. The three spent a half hour or so in conversation when Coffey and Hopkins proposed to their companion when Coffey and Hopkins proposed to their companion that he should accompany them to New York and sleep at their apartments, No. 130 Wooster street. Hannigan said he would gladly do so and went with them to the Wouster street house, where, on the second floor, he was shown into a bedroom with two small beds in it, one of which he occupied and his companions the other. Coffey locked the door, and Haunigan put his $55 in money in his pantaloous pucket, hung ine garment on a hook between the beds and slept. He awake at lifteen minutes to eight o'clock next morning. His companions and his money were gone. The ing. His companions and his money were gone. The landlord informed him the two men were seen leaving the house very early. Coffey and Hopkins were arrested and heid in $1,000 bail each in the Jefferson Market Court yesterday.

A HUSBAND MISSING.

Dr. Elliott B. Dupree, a travelling chiropedist, of No. 973 Fulton street, Brooklyn, has been missed by his young wife and two children since December 20, when Mrs. Dupree received the last letter from habit of spending nearly all his time travelling in the pursuit of his profession, but generally wrote to his write twice a week. Since December 20 she says she has heard nothing of his whereabouts. She is ledt estirely destitute, with two children of tender age, and is naturally acklous to ascertain his whereabouts if he is still living. She describes him as about five feet eleven and a half inches (all, of medium proportions, light brown hair, dark eyes and with a light brown mustache.

A PADRONE ARRESTED.

Dominico Amico, an Italian padrone, a few months ago was given charge of an Italian boy, aged twelve years, during the temporary absence of the father o the youth from this city. Amico, as alleged, sold the boy to one Pietro Latalia for $175, and with the proceeds sailed for Europe. The father returning ceeds sailed for Europe. The father returning to this city a few weeks ago was unable to discover the whereabouts of his missing son, and appealed to Superistendent Jenkins, of the Society for the Prevention of Crucity to Children. Mr. Jenkins at once instituted a search for the missing toy, and was finally rewarded by receiving a despatch yesterday from Mr. Joseph Smith, the society's Cincinnati agent, to the effect that Latalia was lound in that city and at once taken into custody. The padrone will be arraigned for a preliminary hearing to-morrow, and if the facts as alleged can be proven against him he will be transferred to this city, when further legal proceedings will be instituted.

THE REICHMANN HOMICIDE.

Coroner Eilinger yesterday held an inquest on the by Theobald Fluck, on the 29th of January, at Betts' Brewery, No. 349 West Forty lourth street. No pew facts were elicited at the inquest. A number of nosses were clicked at the inquest. A number of winmesses were examined and the deceased. The prisoner, Fluck, was oxamined in his own behalf, and testified that he had used the knife in self-delence and did not know who he had stabbed. Several mee sat on him, he said, and in defending himself he used his knife.
The jury returned a verdict that Reichmann came to his death at the hands of Fluck, and the Coroner committed the latter to the Tombs without bail.

"RUM CONVULSIONS."

An entry in the blotter of the Chambers Street Hospital last evening is suggestive. It showed that "Mary O'Brien, aged twenty-eight, of No. 21 Thomas street, was lound at the Fourth precinct suffering from 'rum convulsions.'"

AN OLD TRICK.

The Pilot Commissioners at their meeting yester day received information that a man giving the name of William H. Murphy had applied to the widow of a former shipowner for relief, on the ground that he had once been a pilot on a line of vessels owned by had once been a pilot on a line of vessels owned by her husband and that he was now paralyzed and had a wife and family to support. The Commissioners claim to recognize in the applicant an impostor whom they had occasion to expose years ago while he was endeavoring to obtain money by similar representations to individuals and by petitions to Congress for aid in bringing out mythical inventions.

GERMANISCHER LLOYD INTERNATIONALES REGISTER—We have received from Capt F Bernace, the agent in this city for the above work—which is published in Berlin-the yearly volume for 1878. It contains the names of a large number of vessels, principally German, giving their rate, tonnage, dimensions, where buils. &c, which makes it a valuable book of reference for parties angaged in maritime commerce. This work is indorsed by the Peruvian government. Monthly supplements are also issued, giving the priticulars of vessels not reported in the Register; also the metallings, repairs and resurveys made during the month.
